The Mananater Store The Man and the Apparel

WE have our doubts as to whether the apparel can be relied upon to -proclaim the man, but there's no question that it proclaims his clothier. Look at the commonplace ready-to-wear suit or overcoat, for example, after a month of hard wear. Then look at one of ours, that are

' This clothing, Boy's, Man's, Youth's, is just the best that we know, and we have spent twenty-seven years finding out things. You can find much in that time, if your heart has been in the investigation, and ours has been. We have found out how to make clothes and get clothes made that will satisfy. And we have learned to push the price just as low as it can go without interfering with the satisfaction.
